

YES! (Young Engineers & Scientists) invite you to the next event in the YES! series:

YES! O-Tube Site Visit

UWA, Centre for Offshore Foundation Systems
Shenton Park, Perth

Thursday, 1st September 2016

To register please visit: www.trybooking.com/MNOX

 Places are limited so please register early to guarantee a place

Lead by: Terry Griffiths (UWA PhD researcher) and the O-tube team & Ray Maujean (Engineer, Fugro AG)

What happens to a subsea structure during a storm?
What happens to the seabed under the structure?
Which becomes unstable first? The seabed or a pipeline?

Designed and built by UWA's in-house technical team, the multi-award-winning O-Tubes are world-unique recirculating flumes which have enabled new research into the tripartite interaction of hydrodynamics, geotechnics and subsea structure response under extreme underwater wave and current conditions. With support from Woodside, Chevron and the ARC, UWA as lead researcher in the STABLEpipe JIP has contributed to the drafting of new guidelines for the design of pipelines on erodible seabeds.

BUT WAIT.... There's more.... - Do you know the friction factor for a pipeline on rock?
- Have you ever sat inside a pipeline?

Programme:

- 2:00 pm: Registration/board
- 2:10 pm: Depart Parmelia Hilton
- 2.30 pm: Introduction / O-Tube tour
(including afternoon tea thanks to UWA)
- 4.30pm: Depart (approx.)
- 4.50pm: Arrive back at Parmelia Hilton (approx.)
