Oceaneering

Oceaneering Jandakot facility is an Integrated Oilfield Services Hub that supports Installation and Intervention support, Asset Integrity Management and Inspection, Life of field support, Christmas tree refurbishment and upgrade, Intervention workover control system (IWOCS) rentals and operations, Customer property management, Engineering studies, Subsea equipment repairs, overhauls, and refurbishments to rigorous standards and system integration testing.

Baker Hughes

Opened in 2011, the Jandakot facility in Western Australia is a key hub for Baker Hughes in APAC. Over time it has developed its capabilities and track record in supporting everything from major EPC projects, field interventions, equipment upgrades and long term life of field management.

Australian Marine Complex

Located in Western Australia, 23 kilometres south of Perth, the AMC has been developed to enhance the opportunities created by the clustering of industries and is home to the largest marine industry in Australia.

The AMC has established international credentials for the repair, maintenance and construction of naval and commercial vessels, as well as infrastructure for the fabrication and assembly of offshore oil and gas modules.
